To Whom it May Concern

I recently employed the services of Extreme Care to arrange the cremation and repatriation of the remains of a deceased Irish resident who died while on holiday in Bulgaria. Extreme Care looked after everything efficiently and kept me fully advised at each stage of the process. They were clear about what paperwork was required from me and they in due course sent on to me all necessary paperwork including a death certificate. I was impressed with the service given and would without hesitation use the services of Extreme Care again if the need arose.
